Shed burned but coal was saved

Early Morning Fire Resulted in $120 Loss to James Sanchez—Cause of Flames Unknown.

A shed on the property of James Sanchez at 1907 and 1909 South Second street, caught fire this morning at about 3:20 from some unknown cause and was almost totally destroyed before the fire department arrived.

The fire had already gained a headway before the alarm was turned in, but even though the fire ladders did not arrive until 3:40, they were in time to avert a terrible loss to the families who owned the contents of the shed. The shed contained about two tons of coal, which, at the present high prices, was well worth saving. The precious material had started to burn when the fire company appeared upon the scene, but a few sprays from the combination wagon quenched the insidious flames and the firemen rode back to headquarters confident that their trip had not been made in vain and their hearts glad by reason of the gratitude expressed by the owners of the coal. The total loss was $120. The houses on the two lots are occupied by the families of Zanon Chavez and Anthony Trossell.
